

School of COmmunications & REputation

Indian PR Annual Survey

2022-23

The Indian PR Annual Survey reports the key economic and business trends within the Indian PR Business.

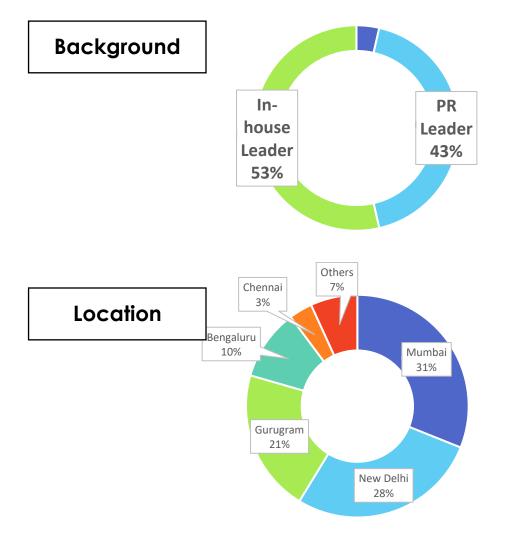

IPRAS 2022 Findings

Profile of the respondents

- The Sample comprised Leaders of Indian PR consultancies and In-house Communications teams who were invited to respond to a survey
- A total of 56 Leaders responded, 22 (40%) of whom were PR Leaders, 32 (57%) heads of corporate communications, and remaining were independent consultants
- 89.6% of the Respondents were from Mumbai, NCR and Bengaluru.

Part I: State of PR Business

Growth Forecast of Indian PR Business

Growth Forecast

• Of leaders feel the PR Business will

- 0 grow, while the rest believe it will remain the same size
- . 15%
- PR & In-House leaders agree that the
 PR Business is likely to grow between 14.5%-15%

Growth Forecast by Size

- 13-17% Small & Mid Sized Firms are expected lead the growth in business, growing between 13% to 17%
- <10% Large & Giant firms are likely to grow under 10%

In-house Leader 43.75% 43.75% 12.50% PR Leader 58.33% 33.33% 8.33% 0% 10% 30% 100% 50% 70% 90% Small (Below INR 10 Crore) 10.71% 25.00% Mid-sized (INR 10 – 20 Crore) 10.71% 28.57% Large (INR 20 50 Crore) 31.03% 27.59% Giant (Above INR 50 Crore) 37.93% 24.14% 0 - 7.5% 7.5 – 10 % 10 - 15 % ■ 15 – 20 % >20%

■ Will grow significantly ■ Will grow slightly ■ Will remain the same as 2021-22

Reputation COMMS

Factors Influencing Growth of Indian PR Business

Increasing appreciation of reputation as a business driver	4.4
Businesses' need for more meaningful communications & to break the clutter	4.2
Blurring lines between PR and other communications disciplines	3.6
Increasing importance of earned media as a business driver	3.6
Business recovery after the impact of the pandemic	3.5
General business growth regardless of the pandemic	3.2

Reputation as a Business Driver

Organisations increasingly recognising the value of Reputation for Business Continuity was unanimously seen as a predominant factor.

Pandemic Impact & Recovery

Although some recovery has happened in 2022, its contribution to the growth of PR Business is smaller, compared to a general upswing in business is limited

Other Factors Influencing Growth of Indian PR Business

Threat of Crises

Increasing potential of Crises owing to evolving stakeholder expectations, dynamic media environments, and newer businesses

Integration of Communications

Expectations from PR firms to extend reputation counselling to digital campaigns, particularly social and paid

Crisis of Credibility

The need for businesses to have a credible storytelling, particularly to battle, complex macro environment, fake news, and to serve stakeholder demand for credible news

Focus of MNCs

Increased focus of global holding groups and other MNCs in the rapid growth within the Indian market

Organisational Priorities

Communications increasingly becoming a board priority, with greater thrust on corporate reputation & purpose, & internal communications

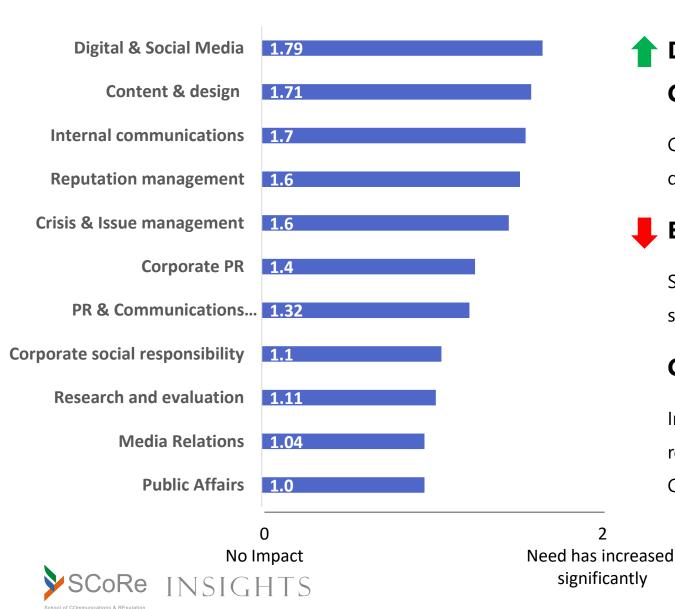

Part II: Demand for Services

Impact of the pandemic on PR Services

Digital, Content & Design & Internal

Communications

Consultancy & In-house leaders observed an increase in these services driven by increasing need to communicate during the pandemic

Event Planning & Sales

2

Sales promotion, and event planning and organisation reduced in scope drastically during the pandemic

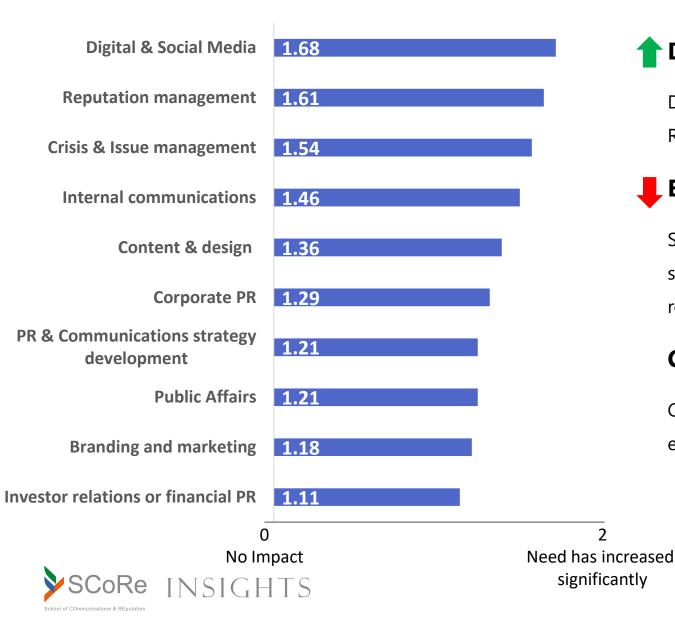

Consultancy & In-House Leaders Disagree

In-house leaders observed the demand for sales promotion, media relations, and CSR to have increased by a greater magnitude than Consultancy Leaders.

PR Services Forecast for 2023

Digital, Reputation, & Crisis

Digital will remain the most needed service, while the need for Reputation Management, & Crisis & Issue Management will increase

Event Planning, Sales & Media Relations

Sales promotion, and event planning and organisation continue to be scarcely demanded, while focus on Media Relations is expected to reduce as well

Consultancy & In-House Leaders Disagree

Corporate PR, CSR, and Content are three areas which In-house leaders expected to demand in a greater magnitude than Consultancy Leaders.

Part III: Talent

Importance & Current Availability of Skills

Strategic Counselling Skills 1.52 Insights and Analytical Skills 1.52 Written Communication Skills 1.55 Problem Solving & Consulting Skills 1.55 Research and Documentation 1.69 Managerial Skills 1.93 General & Current Affairs Knowledge 1.93 Spoken Communication Skills 1.97 Online community management 1.97 Influencer management 2.00 Regional Language Knowledge 2.03 Networking Skills 2.10 Media Awareness & Media Relations 2.10 Digital & Social Media Skills 2.21 Graphic Design Skills 2.28 Not easily available

Dearth of Strategic Counselling Skills

Both Consultancy & In-house leaders observed limited availability of skills fundamental to reputation consulting - strategic counsel, problem solving, & analytical skills

Substantial availability of Core Skills

2.5 Easily

Available

According to respondents, core technical skills ranging from digital to media relations are either satisfactorily available or can be easily trained

Stakeholder & Business Understanding an asset

Consultancy and in-house leaders also noted that the ability to link reputation to business, align stakeholders, integrate communications will round up the comprehensive

Skills Map: Mapping Skills on their importance versus availability

Build on Priority

	Problem Solving Consulting Skills		anagement
Insights and Analytical Skills		Online community management	Spoken Communication Skills	Digital & Soci Skills	al Media
Strategic Counselling Skills	Writing Skills	General & Currer Affairs	nt Managerial Skills
			Media Awar Media Relat
Research and Documentation		Networking Skills
		Regional La Knowledge
	Train			Expand	Graphic Design Skills

Leverage

Reputation

Availability

Part IV: Trends, Opportunities, Challenges

Trends that will impact the PR Business

Purpose will Drive Communications Agenda

Consultancy and In-house leaders unanimously consider corporate purpose and ESG to drive the communications focus and PR mandates, particularly on the back of stabilising CSR budgets

Migrating from Traditional to Digital Outcomes

According to respondents, while media relations will continue to have a positive impact, digital media coverages, ORM and Social PR will take over traditional press coverages

Communications Budgets Must Increase

2

Apparent disparity in how communications budgets are likely to change over the course of the next year, as consultancies believe an increase in budgets is essential to growth in PR Business.

Challenges

Talent	Specialists	Retainer crunch	Press Mindset	Fragmented influence
Finding, retaining, training & grooming talent at all levels	Finding & Creating horizontal & vertical specialists	Impact on retainers from evolving expectations & price wars	Proving the value of PR beyond coverage	Evolving media landscapes & consumptions habits

Opportunities

Technology will pave the way for smarter communications

More engagement opportunities, More data and insights, More measurement, Applications in Policy Purpose Driven Communications will rationalise

ESG have taken centrestage, but greenwashing will become easy to spot and brands will prioritise meaningful engagement over vanity metrics Employees as Evangelists

The weight of Internal communications and employee engagement in organisational reputation will increase Fortune of skills at the Bottom of the Pyramid

Particularly consultancy leaders acknowledged that it's their younger employees and how they are groomed which can make the difference. Power of Owned Media & Content

Greater impact & its measurability will increase reliance on owned content & distribution platforms

School of COmmunications & REputation

Indian PR Annual Survey

Full Report at www.scoreindia.org